

Descendants of Richard Gladney III

Generation No. 1

1. Richard⁴ Gladney III (Richard³, William², Richard¹) was born 1741 in Kinbally, County Antrim, Ireland, and died 02 Aug 1793 in Winnsboro, Fairfield County SC. He married Jennet (Jane?) Gaston Strong 1775 in Chester County (then part of Craven County) SC, daughter of Charles Strong and Jennet Gaston. She was born 1757 in County Antrim, Ireland, and died 22 Sep 1833 in Winnsboro, Fairfield County SC.

Notes for Richard Gladney III:

Richard, the second son of Jane Wilson Gladney, and one of the four immigrant brothers, married Jane (Jennet) Strong. She was a product of the new world, born to Charles and Jennet Gaston Strong in 1757, whose home was on Fishing Creek in Chester County. The Strong grant of land lay directly across the creek from the first meetinghouse erected in that community, a fact which was to influence the lives of several members of the family.

Jennet Gaston Strong, mother of Jane, was a sister of colonial justice John Gaston, Sr. and of Mary McClure, mother of Captain John McClure of Revolutionary fame. They were a devout Presbyterian family, and as staunch in their defense of their country as they were in their religious convictions and practices.

Charles Strong was a relatively affluent man when he wrote his will in 1781, recorded in 1782. His possessions were, listed as the plantation on which he lived, 250 acres of land on the North side of Fishing Creek, 100 acres on Rocky Creek adjoining Robert Strong, 100 acres on the north fork of Rocky Creek adjoining John Gaston, Jr., a note for 1,000 pounds due from Jonathan Jones and a note for $740 from Robert Cooper. He named four special horses, other horses, cattle, sheep, poultry, farm tools, wagons, gear, and sundry articles of furnishings.

Mentioned in the will of Charles Strong are the following children: Letticia, Margaret, Christopher, and son-in-law, Richard Gladney. Jane Strong was the wife of this Richard.

In June 1781, Charles Strong lost his youngest son William, then between 14 and 16 years of age. Mrs. Ellett's Women of the Revolution, Vol. III, tells the story as do other early historians of the area: Presbyterian preachers of the district were arousing members of their congregations by fervent calls for liberty and religious freedom. They were insisting on better support for colonial efforts: Rev. Simpson of the Fishing Creek area and Rev. William Martin were particularly successful in their appeals, and thus incurred the wrath of British commanders, who were harassed by striking raids of Col. Winn and Capt. John McClure.

Captain Huck of the British Army was sent out to get the Rev. Simpson at all costs. On 11 June, according to Mrs. Ellett's history, after several attempts in other localities to capture the Rev. Simpson, Capt. Huck with twelve men invaded the Creek Meeting House on a Sunday morning. Forewarned by his friends, Mr. Simpson was not present. The Captain, in a vindictive fury, ordered a search of the surrounding area.

At the Strong farm, across the creek from, the church, his men went through the barn, dragging out the sacks of grain and sticking holes through them with their swords. The tame pigeons of the farm flew down to pick at the scattered grain. Captain Huck stood by, clipping the heads off the pigeons as they rose into the air. "This is how I'll cut the head off the Holy Ghost," he promised grimly.

William Strong, reading his Bible in the barn, was the only male on the place, being just a lad and no threat to anyone. Captain Huck was so infuriated at his failure to find the Rev. Simpson that he ordered the soldiers to slay the lad in the minister's stead. The soldiers shot him and dragged him into the yard where they slashed at his body with their swords until Mrs. Strong threw herself across her son's remains to prevent further mutilation.

Despite his youngest son's tragic death, when Charles Strong, a month later wrote his last will and testament, he confirmed his faith thus, "being very sick and low in body, but of perfect mind and memory, and calling to my mind my mortality---I leave my soul to the God who gave it, and my body to the dust---believing that this body of mine shall be raised up again (at the Resurrection of the Great Day of Judgment) by the Lord Jesus Christ Imprimus---."

This was the family background of Jane Strong, the girl whom Richard Gladney married. At the time of her brother William's death, Jane had been married six years, and was living on the Gladney land on Jackson's Creek. She had three small children and her husband was one of the soldiers fighting for freedom.

Research has discovered no record of where Charles Strong is buried. His wife, Jennet Gaston Strong, lies beside her daughter in the Old Gladney Cemetery, near Winnsboro, in Fairfield County. The inscription on the tall marble marker for her grave reads simply,

"Jennet Strong, died April 18, 1801, aged 75 years, wife of Charles Strong."

Richard Gladney died unexpectedly in 1793, leaving no will. During the same year that Jane Strong lost her husband, she lost two children, as markers in the family cemetery testify. At the time of his death he had property in Chester, York, and Fairfield Counties, including, of course that which Jane held in her own right. She kept her family together. As the young couples married she sent each to a Gladney farm so that they shared the management of the land with her, if not the ownership. Finally in 1815, by an agreement in which all members of the family, sons-in-law, and children concurred, the estate was divided, and a copy of the agreement was filed in the courthouse in Winnsboro. It was signed by all the heirs of Richard. (Deed Book "X" , pages 241-245)

Many events were to take place during the years between the settlement of Richard's estate and Jane's own death in 1833. Her daughter Letticia Gladney Weldon died after sale of property in 1831.. She was the wife of James Weldon, and in the division of farms they had received a tract of land on Fishing Creek in Chester County as joint tenants with Jane Chesnut and David Chesnut. Two of her children are mentioned in Jane Gladney's will in 1833. Charles Gladney, second son of the family , died in 1828, leaving a widow with six minor children. Joseph, Jane's oldest son, and his wife, Martha Becket(t) Gladney moved to Richland County (Columbia) to send their older children to school there. Jane and David Chesnut left Fairfield County in 1826 for the Georgia Indian lands, which were opened to settlement. The youngest son, Samuel Gladney, went to Missouri in 1820.

The extent of Jane Strong Gladney's education is not known. In her will she mentions her books and disposes of them with care and consideration. She made disposition also of Scots Bibles belonging to her. In addition she left to her grandson, Richard Strong Gladney, son of Joseph, a bequest for his education as a minister, which he became; and to Samuel McKinney Gladney a sum to help in his education as a physician. It is possible that Richard Strong Gladney received his ordination as a minister before his grandmother's death. Records show that he was minister at Salem Presbyterian Church 1836, in Fairfield County. Samuel, being the youngest son of Joseph was still a minor when his grandmother passed away. He received his medical degree from the University of Pennsylvania Medical College in 1852. Whatever her own formal education, Jane Strong Gladney regarded education as of major importance, and encouraged and urged it. To her, learning and religion went into the making of every worthy man Revolutionary soldier 1776 to 1783 as a private in Captain Ed Martin's Company, Colonel Richard Winn's Regiment. Richard Gladney and Captain Ed Martin married first cousins.

Notes for Letisha (Lettitia?) Margret Gladney:

Died between 1831 and 1833 (Equity Record of Richard's Estate and will of mother, Jane Strong Gladney)

More About Letisha (Lettitia?) Margret Gladney:
Cause of Death: Drowned

Notes for James Weldon:

James is listed as serving in the War of 1812 in Wooten's Detachment of Georgia Volunteers and Militia. He was also listed in Jenkins' Regiment. He probably made trips to Alabama under General Jackson's command while dealing with the Indian problems.

In 1829 James received, in his father's will, 120 acres of land including his house and improvements.

In 1831, Letitia and James sold to John Simonton the property Letitia had inherited from her father, Richard Gladney's estate. Also that year, James made Bond for Guardianship of the estate and effects of Samuel, Charles and William Weldon. (We believe this to be for his brother, William's children.)

Letitia probably died before James, or at the same time, as court records show that when James died, their children were orphans.

James died intestate, at the age of about 51 years, in July 1833 in Whitesburg, Madison County AL.

On August 26, 1833, Samuel, son of James, aged 21 years and single, relinquished the right to administer the estate. John Hardie is appointed as Administrator for James' estate. (Orphans Court, Minute Book 5, Page 337.)

On August 27, 1833, the Huntsville Advocate newspaper ran a notice by John Hardie regarding an estate sale and arrangements for James Weldon to be held on September 05, 1833. The estate included 20 acres of cotton, hogs, cattle, horses and homestead items.

William P. Terry, made guardian of James and Letitia's six younger children; gives Samuel and Richard Charles their share of the estate; (Richard Charles was 20 years old and had married on January 10, 1833); states that the younger children to receive their shares. (Minute Book G, Pages 257-262.)

On June 29, 1835, settlement notations. (Minute Book 7, Page 197.)

On January 10, 1842, Henry Thompson made guardian for Jane (or Jennet) G. on settlement. (Minute Book 8, Page 376.)

On May 03, 1843, William P. Terry making more settlements.

On June 10, 1844, Samuel Thompson appointed guardian for James.

On May 12, 1851, Archibald E. Mills appointed guardian for Letitia. Final settlement made. (Minute Book 10, Page 356.)

Family legend of the children is: Richard Charles stayed in Madison and Limestone Counties, Alabama. The younger children were raised by their aunts and uncles in South Carolina. William Alexander, James and Letitia were taken back to Fairfield County South Carolina by their Aunt Sarah (Weldon) Simonton but later moved to Newton County, Georgia, as did Jennet G. and Nancy Weldon.

CSA. Served in Company K, 27th Miss. Infantry, Captain John Sayle, Waltham's Brigade; was in numerous battles and skirmishes until taken prisoner and held for eighteen months at the notorious Federal Prison, Rock Island, Illinois.

Born into a family of musicians, John chose the violin for study, and though he played the flute and other instruments the violin remained his favorite. His fiddle was his companion during his military service. While a soldier stationed at a camp near Columbus GA he was invited to accompany his officers to the home of Mrs. Evans, Augusta Anne Evans, the novelist who wrote "St. Elmo," the best seller of its day. Mrs. Evans was occupying the colonial mansion, now known as St. Elmo. It was Mrs. Evans herself who played John Gladney's accompaniment when he played for the guests.

24. Dr. Samuel McKinney⁶ Gladney (Joseph⁵, Richard⁴, Richard³, William², Richard¹) was born 15 Aug 1825 in Fairfield County SC, and died 02 Nov 1884 in Mack TN. He married Samantha Fowler 10 Dec 1861, daughter of William Fowler and Martha Parrish. She was born 02 Feb 1831 in Tuscaloosa, Greene County AL, and died 1919.

Notes for Dr. Samuel McKinney Gladney:

(The following narrative was written by Cora Hibbs Grant, wife of Hugh Grant.)

Samuel McKinney Gladney was born in Fairfield County, South Carolina, in 1825. The records are not clear as to when he went to Alabama. (There are indications that his parents, Joseph and Martha Gladney, died and were buried in Carrolton, Alabama.) Samuel was twelve years old when they died. He was their youngest son. The records show that at some time he was in Aberdeen, Mississippi, with his brother, Richard Strong Gladney, who was an educator, Presbyterian Minister, organizer and president of the Aberdeen Female College.

Samuel went from Aberdeen to the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1850. He received his MD degree in 1852. Since his daughter Minnie stated that she was born in Greene County, Alabama, Dr. Gladney must have been practicing medicine and living there, but he joined the Confederate forces from Mississippi and was a member of the 27th Regiment of Mississippi.

Dr. Gladney was stationed at a small fort hospital at Chattanooga for a few months. He became a member of the Army of Tennessee under General Braxton Bragg. With his Army, General Bragg attempted the invasion of Kentucky during August, September, and October 1862. They were driven back by the superior Union forces under General D. C. Buell and forced to retreat from the state. Dr. Gladney was captured at the battle of Perryville, Kentucky, and sent to a "Northern" prison.

Samantha and Minnie said often that the doctor had developed tuberculosis because of cold and exposure in the Northern prison. What irritated Samantha most - the possible "last straw" - was the fact that he rode off to war on "his beautiful horse" and then returned on foot - "ragged, ill and foot-sore."

Minnie spoke often of her father's infrequent talk about his war experiences. Dr. Gladney told of what a distressing thing it was for a doctor to try and patch up the wounded soldiers with little or no medicines, and no anesthetic to relieve the agonies of amputations. He told of the suffering in the cold damp prisons. He never forgot the torture of being made to treat Union officers with ample medicines, while at the same time he tried to doctor his fellow prisoners with no medicines whatsoever. Small wonder that Minnie Gladney remained an "unreconstructed" Rebel to the end of her life.

The Gladney story of Dr. Sam will be told by others and the Beckett family, also. Minnie believed that her ancestry could be traced to the fire-eating Archbishop Thomas A. Becket. With her fighting spirit, Minnie could well have been a descendant of "Old Thomas."

A word here about the Fowler clan will not be amiss. Minnie and Samantha spoke fondly of their ancestor, Sherwood Parrish, who was an itinerant music teacher. Hugh has a copy of music which he composed. It appears that he not only taught music lessons but composed the copy which his pupils used. He fought for seven years in the American Revolution. His son, William Tyrie Smith Parrish, also fought in the Revolutionary War. William Tyrie Parrish was an aide to General George Washington, according to Fowler family records. His daughter married William Henry Fowler. They were the parents of Samantha Fowler.

When Dr. Gladney went to the war, he took his body servant with him. Later when he returned for a furlough, he left his trusted John to care for the Missus and the "Little Missy." Samantha told of this slave's devotion as a typical occurrence during the war.

The Gladney home was rather isolated but was on a highway. During the chaotic days following the Surrender, John more than justified his "Marce Doctor's" faith in him. All day a steady stream of refugees and marauders passed their house. There was untold plundering and killing. Samantha, with the baby, Minnie, was alone with the now free slave, John. Samantha gave the Doctor's rifle to John and said: "We are in your hands. Do with us as you will."

John wept because his Missus even doubted that he would fail in his trust. For days and nights, John sat on the piazza with the gun ever ready. None molested them - not even to steal.

After the war, Dr. Gladney, who had lost everything, including his health, took his wife and baby to Texas, going by boat from New Orleans. He hoped that he would be able to support them in the new country and to increase his life span in the dry climate. He located in the little town of Osage.

Minnie was named Mary Beckett. She was a very active baby and her father said she reminded him of a minnow and he playfully called her "Minnow" which soon came to be "Minnie" and the Mary was forgotten.

Minnie talked much of their life in Texas, and at great length about her father, whom she adored. Dr. Gladney must have been a remarkable man and he was the guiding influence in Minnie's life. Minnie said that he read "everything." He was a student and a scientist. From wire and cans, he made Minnie a telephone which carried their voices, and he told them that one day men would fly through the air on wings of their own making.

One of Dr. Gladney's patients was Gale Borden, who discovered the process of preserving milk by condensing and canning it. One of Minnie's most embarrassing experiences happened when they all went to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Borden. Mr. Borden proudly gave them hot chocolate made with chocolate which he had just developed in his laboratory. It made Minnie sick and she ran to the window and "spit it out."

They were in an upstairs sitting room. The seven or eight year old Minnie was terribly embarrassed when she discovered the servants mopping her chocolate off the piazza.

Another thing Minnie recalled was that the water at their first Texas home was greasy and "stank," so they moved so that Samantha could get her clothes white. We teased them about that greasy water, which tasted like kerosene. We should be millionaires since they were sitting on an oil deposit.

Dr. Gladney knew that his life would be short and that he would have nothing of this world's goods to leave to his wife and daughter. He determined, therefore, to give Minnie a sound educational foundation and a musical education. He taught her and she spoke of going to school. She treasured a picture of her music teacher, who was a man. She became an accomplished musician, a good accompanist and a music teacher. She taught for a lifetime and played for churches for forty or more years.

During their years in Texas, Dr. Gladney's nephew, "Cousin Adair," lived with them for a period. Samantha used to chuckle over the handsome, fastidious youth, who found life without his personal slave a decided bore. He fretted because he could not have his "fresh linens every day", and complained even more that he was forced to "black my own boots." But black them he did.

Minnie understood there was an agreement between the two brothers, Adair and William, that Adair should live in the Doctor's home and study medicine under his tutelage and use his "fine medical library." In exchange, William, Adair's brother, agreed to care for the Doctor in his last days and to do what he could for Samantha and Minnie after his death.

The Doctor died in William's home in Milan, Tennessee, and was buried in Milan. Minnie was fourteen years old at the time.

Presumably she and Samantha could have remained in William's home - there were thousands of women doing this all over the broken South. However, Minnie was a Gladney. She was made of sterner stuff. She was not cut out for the role of "dependent female." She knew early in her life that she must justify her adored father's confidence in her, in giving her the "fine musical education" and when he had said: "Minnie, you will have to look after your mother."

Look after her mother Minnie did, economically, but in no other way, as Samantha was no "dependent female" either. She did not enjoy doing without her slaves, but do without them she did, and with no complaining. She became a good housekeeper, keeping things shining, and cheerfully "made do" with what was available. She made a "passable" drink from roasted sweet potatoes when coffee gave out. Through all the lean years, she fed them by using substitutes. Later she and Minnie "bickered affectionately" because Minnie, in her rebellion, would use what the recipe called for, even to twelve eggs in a cake. "Minnie, you will go to the poorhouse with your extravagances," I can hear her say.

Minnie was no housekeeper. She had one of the most brilliant minds I ever encountered. From her superior ancestors, Minnie had inherited her superior mind, and her inexhaustible thirst for knowledge. She was "interested in and informed" on almost any subject, but second to her music and church, she was interested in politics. She read while dust curls accumulated. When I complimented her cooking, she laughed. "I'd be dull of comprehension if I could not cook. I have done enough of it."

As was the custom for girls in her day, Samantha learned early to "sew a fine seam" and she had a flair for clothes. Her nieces told me that in the midst of destruction and poverty, during and following the War, Samantha, in some way, managed to look well dressed and fashionable. Samantha, Scarlett O'Hara and the parlor curtains! Not only could she make clothes, she knew how to design them. No mean talent. When the fourteen year old Minnie Gladney set forth to face and conquer the world, she was "fitted out" in a suit and a beaver hat fashioned by her mother from a suit and hat of her father. Courage, a stout heart, ingenuity, and a trade are a good combination at any time. They were essential then.

Minnie and Samantha lived for a time in a "little house" in Milan. They then went to Birmingham and lived with Samantha's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Miers, Minnie teaching music all the while to support them. And then one summer, she went to Knoxville, Tennessee where she met her "Willie."

They were married in Knoxville in June 1884. Their first child was a little girl, Anita, who lived only twenty-three months. They moved to the booming town of Birmingham, Alabama in 1886, and later to East Lake, a town six miles away, which about 1910, became a part of Birmingham. Minnie took her place in the busy growing community as a musician, teacher, and worker. Much of their activities and friendships centered around the church - Methodist and later Baptist.

Minnie took a leading part in every phase of church life but her chief interest was in the music. She played for every service, including weddings and burials - and directed choirs for forty or more years. She was also active in civic music groups in East Lake and in Birmingham. And she gave lessons in music throughout the greater part of her life, but perhaps playing accompaniments was the best phase of her music. She could have been a concert pianist and she could and did play for years and years. It is an interesting thing that so small a person could play so well and so forcefully. She never was able to reach an octave. She "jumped" the octave so skillfully it was never known. Late in life, arthritis stiffened her fingers. Since she could no longer play music as it should be played, she sold her piano, put away her music and had no music for some years. However, for her last few years, she had a piano and she played again. She loved it and she never lost her touch. She had practically lost her vision and so she could play only those things which lingered in her memory. That memory storehouse was inexhaustible.

Shortly after the Civil War, there was a Negro, born in slavery, who was a well known character in his day, Blind Tom. He was less than the "half wit" he was called, but he made a fortune for his "trainer." He could play anything he heard, reproducing every sound and feeling in the music. He also composed music. One of the best known, a really remarkable reproduction of sounds, was the "Battle of Manassas." Blind Tom had been near and had heard the battle. This was favorite of Hugh's, and Minnie played it on many occasions.

I have a very pleasant memory of Minnie in the parlor, at her piano, playing hymns for hours, often singing softly in her good clear alto. As soon as she began to play neighbors began to gather on her porch to listen. Often she had an audience of several and some times dozens.

Minnie played every sort of piano or organ. First she had the old "you pump" organ. Later the church purchased a grand new organ which was pumped by small boys. Since the small boys often forgot to pump, William was the self-appointed guardian of the pump - keeping the small boys awake. When pipe organs came, Minnie was in her "seventh heaven." She learned the intricacies of the pipe organ from the people who installed the first pipe organ in East Lake, and then she taught others how to play it. One of the high points in Minnie's life was in Washington on a visit to Hugh in 1934, when she played the great pipe organ in the Washington Cathedral.

William and Minnie were deeply religious. His job was their means of earning their daily bread. They put first things first, each other, their child, their church and music. Minnie's life was dedicated to "taking care of papa", and although he never said the words, his life was dedicated to her. They had fifty-nine good years together.

Although there was electricity for many, many years, William never gave up his trusty kerosene lantern. The way they are recalled best in East Lake is going home from the church (always the last to leave) in the light of his lantern. Two old people and a lantern going home from church.

In the fall of 1922, William's long-time bronchial condition became critical and so they started out to St. Petersburg, Florida, hoping he would be cured in the perpetual Florida sunshine. They reached Tampa on a bleak afternoon and were all but blown back. They were practically in the "eye" of one of the worst hurricanes ever to hit Tampa. Storm or no storm, Florida's healing air had relieved him and William fell into bed and into a sleep of sheer exhaustion and slept for nearly twenty four hours.

Most of her twenty-four hours in Tampa, Minnie spent in the dark lobby of the hotel huddled with a group of other frightened people. There was neither light nor heat - not even for a cup of hot coffee. Now Minnie, about twelve or fifteen years before, had been (almost fatally) struck by lightning which left her with a frantic terror of storms. The irony of this story was that a few days later, in Lakeland, they received a bill from the Tampa Electric Company for $32.00 for "services rendered." They never learned who had used that electricity. To Minnie that bill was "adding insult to injury."

Florida sunshine was healing for William and for Minnie as well, as she recovered from hay fever which had plagued her earlier life. This was in a manner of being an unexpected dividend. They had fourteen or fifteen more or less good years in Florida, including one in Lakeland, and the remainder in Tampa and Lake Wales. There had been serious illnesses, an almost fatal operation for William and a cataract operation for Minnie. These covered some anxious years, but terminated successfully.

In Florida, they were again exposed to a boom. They watched that Florida bubble of '26 and '27 as spectators. They heard about fortunes being made and lost - they did neither - in fact, they really enjoyed the real estate extravaganzas. Minnie's eye doctor had advised long vistas to strengthen her eyes and so we were looking for a home site. We pretty well covered West Florida on the buses of the real estate developers. Actually, I worked as a "Bird Dog." I made $25.00 and I sold one lot for which I was never paid.

In Florida, they were reunited with dear friends and relatives. In Lakeland there was a favorite cousin, Mrs. Frank Eanes (Irma Plant) and her husband. In Manatee were special friends from East Lake, the Rushton family - Milton had been Hugh's very special boyhood friend. In Ft. Myers was an especially treasured relative, "Cousin Dissie" Odom, with her fine family of five daughters. It is these who kept the Gladney traditions alive and who had room in their homes and hearts for all Gladney kin to the 17th cousins.

William and Minnie watched Florida grow from a grandstand seat - as it were. They tried it all and had a variety of experiences besides hurricanes. I killed a baby rattler in their house, and believe it or not, Minnie stepped into the coil of a huge snake. And she grew trees, flowers and white chickens.

The Florida period of their lives illustrates that William and Minnie Grant were resilient as well as capable and resourceful. They learned to close the door on the part of their life that was finished and to make an entirely new life. They had each other, a fine place to live and renewed health. William learned a new vocation. He learned how to grow flowers and to cure them of their ills, a skill in demand in a growing country. They made out. They got a little Ford which William, now over seventy, learned to drive. They used the fine new highways covering the state. She had good ears and he had good eyes. They were a good team.

"Cousin Della" Gladney of Reform, Alabama, was a friend and frequent visitor of the Grants in Birmingham. "Cousin Della" was one of the daughters of Joseph Gladney and his, shall we say "well-heeled" wife, Margaret Bonner. I have in my possession a linen damask banquet cloth which she gave Minnie lo these many years ago.

I am feeling natural - at the moment - or I feel a mean streak coming on. Lest we be too effusive in our praise of these brilliant Gladneys, I plan to set down that in extreme age at least one of them was most certainly very eccentric or something.

Cousin Della turned up in Tampa in 1926. It seemed she had lost a good bit of her fortune in a land boom in Texas and in California. She hoped to recoup some of her losses in the Florida land boom. In this respect I believe she did not risk anything. She remained only a short time.

Cousin Della lived in mortal terror of being robbed, and so she would not go out at night, especially not in a taxi. While she was there, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt gave a lecture in Tampa. Cousin Della wanted to hear the famous woman Suffragist and so she asked me to spend the night with her in her hotel - in her room and in her bed - to accompany her in the taxi to and from the lecture.

The next morning when I started to return to the home of her "Cousin Minnie" she gave me a present to take to her. This will be hard to believe but I declared it to be the solemn truth. She sent her ever-loving cousin a stuffed porcupine. She had purchased the perishable object in a gift shop as a gift to the Library of the School in Reform. Since it did not seem to be prepared for permanent use, she sent it as a gift to "Cousin Minnie." We got much more than "Cousin Della's" money in good belly laughs. I pass them on to you, our good Gladney cousins.

After about fourteen years in Florida, William and Minnie again tried the colder climates. They spent one year in Washington, D. C., with Hugh, Cora and Louise. In Washington in 1934, they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. It was the day Louise, then fourteen, took part as junior bridesmaid in her first wedding. The grandparents enjoyed and loved the little girl who in a small way brought back for them the little daughter they had lost so many years ago. After two more years in Virginia, they found the winters too severe. They tried South Carolina and then the Isle of Hope, near Savannah, where Minnie died in July, 1943.

William went to Oregon with Hugh and Cora. He enjoyed the travel. Hugh's work took us all over the state. He was content to be with Hugh again. He would sit for hours watching little boys at play. He never failed to see one who reminded him of the small Hugh. He broke his arm at eighty-nine but by force of his strong will, he regained the use of his arm. He was able to help pack for the trip back East. On the way he rounded out his ninety years, just short of three months. We took him to Birmingham and laid him by his Minnie - a wish he had often expressed.

To Mr. Cowan, the man of her choice, she was married in 1849, and in 1850 she connected herself with the Presbyterian Church, of which she continued a devoted, zealous, and consistent member until the day of her death.

Mrs. Cowan was a lady of meek, gentle, and unobtrusive manners, a loving wife, tender mother, kind neighbor, and true friend. Notes for William Hervey Gladney:

William Hervey Gladney, the eldest son of Rev. Richard Strong and Jane Amanda (McMillan) Gladney, was born in Columbia, South Carolina, in August 1836. When William was a young lad, his parents moved westward from Columbia to Pickens County Alabama, later to a plantation, afterwards known as "Gladneyville", then about a mile north of Aberdeen, Mississippi.

This move to a newer state presented the problem of the education of the Gladney children, five at that time: four boys and a girl, for it was necessary to send the boys back to Columbia where they boarded with an aunt by marriage and attended school. It is not known whether this was a happy time for all concerned, but it is true that if the youngsters poured out more syrup than was needed on their pancakes, the economical aunt set their plates away for them to eat the surplus at the next meal. However that might have been, after a time, the students were back at home in Mississippi, and a tutor from France was employed. From this patient teacher, the children learned a proper pronunciation of the French language which they never forgot.

Perhaps it was this lack of a sufficient number of good schools in North Mississippi in these early days before the War between the States which induced the children's father to become enthusiastically interested in establishing a combined day and boarding school for girls where mathematics, science, history, English, and "Ancient and Modern Languages" were taught as well as piano, voice, embroidery, French, and parlor manners which were the sole accomplishments of the belles of the South for many years. In pursuance of this determination, Rev. Gladney made the "Grand Tour" of Europe, visiting and observing the famous schools of the old countries, England, France, Germany, and Italy in particular. In Italy, this intrepid traveler employed a guide and climbed Vesuvius where he poked his walking stick into the top of the burning and smoking crater.

William Gladney grew up in this atmosphere of the love of learning and culture. At the age of fourteen, a tall lad of six feet, with blond hair, and blue eyes, he enrolled as a freshman in the excellent school, the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, where he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, at eighteen years of age, in 1857, receiving the degree of Master of Arts the following year. His education was classical: mathematics, science, history, English, French, Latin, Greek, with some Spanish and Italian.

At least once, if not more often, William, as a young man, and his sister, Juliette, accompanied by four faithful slaves: the coachman, the footman, Juliette's personal maid, and William's valet, undertook the long, rough trip back to Columbia to visit their relatives. From William's account, the trip was successful, holding many an interesting incident to be remembered in later years.

Shortly after his completion of a degree in law, the War Between the States broke out. William shouldered his gun and went to the war which all seemed to think would be over within a few months at the most, fighting in the severe battles of Bull Run, Cold Harbor, Chancellorsville, and Gettysburg, among others. Twice he was wounded in battle, first in the forehead, his life being saved, according to the surgeon, by the heavy seam of the homemade felt hat sent to him from Aberdeen; the second time, in the leg, a wound which gave him trouble all the rest of his life.

After the war, with the slaves freed, the plantation run down and disposed of, food difficult to come by, and money scarce, William did what he could on what remained of the family holdings, and gratefully turned to teaching in order to help take care of his beloved mother, his sister, and his sister's four children. His father had passed on during the war or shortly thereafter.

In 1873, William occupied the chair of mathematics in West Tennessee College; in 1876, he accepted the presidency of Milan College, in Milan, Tennessee, later moving to Hamburg, Arkansas, at the insistence of a valued friend, Mr. Morscheimer. At Hamburg, William at middle age met and married a vivacious and beautiful girl with an apple blossom complexion, dark and naturally curling hair, and gray eyes. She was a Miss Nancy Elizabeth Barnes, who, living nearby, was frequently a guest of relatives in Hamburg where she was much sought after for the many parties and picnics.

Three children were born of this union, Beaufort Jane Adair, who died at twenty months, Margaret Leonard, and William Hervey, Jr.

It was a happy time for William when his beloved younger brother, John, also decided to make his home at Hamburg. The two brothers were not separated for very long afterwards.

For recreation, William played simple and easy music by ear on the violin; worked out innumerable problems in calculus; played chess; read to his two children, (one of Margaret Leonard's earliest memories was of her father reading Shakespeare aloud to his family before the open fire on cold winter nights); took them on long walks, teaching them the names and characteristics of all the native trees.

Next William, although he had a natural talent for the principalship of schools and for teaching (he did the greater part of the teaching of his children throughout their school years) turned again to the law which he loved and did well with the work.

In after years, his hearing became very poor and his health failed. He was tenderly cared for by his family until he passed on in 1907 and was buried in the Gladney lot of the cemetery at Hamburg, Arkansas.

Notes for William Curtis Grant:

William Curtis Grant was born at Pea Ridge, near Selma, Alabama on 10 November 1855. His father was Wiley Cleveland Grant and his mother was Martha Eliza Sharp Grant. The Grants and the Sharps were farmers. William's mother died on his eighth birthday at the birth of her fourth child. His father had bad luck with his wives. His second wife died in childbirth within a year. William remembered his second step-mother. He said that she had "beaten" him for stealing sugar, which he carried in his pockets. Small wonder that she objected to this untidy habit. This was homemade sugar and must have been "the sticky mess" which he described.

After their mother's death, between and after stepmothers, the Grant children lived with their Sharp grandparents. He spoke very often of his grandfather Sharp, but seldom of anyone else. He told of a tannery on his grandfather's farm. He chuckled over the shoes for the slaves, which were made to be worn on either foot. They also made their saddles and harnesses.

One of William's earliest and most vivid memories was of the burning of Selma on April 2, 1865 by Federal raiders under General James H. Wilson. A nondescript army of 9,000 troops, "raving drunk," plundered, sacked, and burned the city. A force of 3,000 Confederates, under the famous General Nathan Bedford Forrest, attempted to defend the city. William's father was in this group. The desperate attempt to defend the city failed. Forrest and about 200 men escaped, but nearly 2,000 were trapped in the city and captured. Selma was left a shambles. The raiders even killed horses and mules.

Such is the memory of a small boy - William remembered that his father lost his hat - yes, his hat in the battle. He recalled standing with a group of frightened people watching the billowing flames and black smoke, which destroyed the entire town, and of watching the pitiful groups of people going along the road fleeing for their lives, some carrying a few bundles. This is just one incident in the tragic destruction of the South by the marauding Northern armies.

William spoke very often of the "Surrender." As this occurred just seven days after the burning of Selma, the two events were no doubt confused and probably blended in the small boy's memory. The "Surrender" was a tangible thing to him. After this, he recalled there were days spent "huddled down in the thicket", furtively watching the plundering by the Yankee marauders.

Because of the tannery, the Sharps seemed to have fared a little better, in spite of the stealing and plundering, for a time. William spoke of being paid for saddles by the Yankee officers stationed in Selma. When asked who did the work of tanning, he said: "The slaves. They had come back. They came back for protection, and to get something to eat. The Yankees stole everything they could get hold of." All over the broken South, masters and the freed slaves joined forces against the people who had, in effect, fought the war to free the slaves. Bitter irony!

William did not remember his father very vividly. He did recall that his father carried a one thousand dollar life insurance policy for the care and education of his children. His father's brother was left as their legal guardian. After Cleveland's death, the brother took the insurance money, went to Texas where he was married and presumably "lived happily ever after" on the Grant children's one thousand dollars. This is the only reference William ever made to his father's brother.

One unusual thing occurred in William's memory. Shortly after the war there were some camels on his grandfather's place. It was a plan of General Grant's to use camels for transportation of war materials. It did not prove to be workable, and so they were tried on the farms in the South. That must not have been practical either. All William recalled was that they were there for a time and then were there no more. William said that he tried riding one once but found it "too bumpy." He said it could not work as "no one could talk to the funny little men (probably Arab trainers) who were with the camels."

From fourteen years of age, William was on his own. His father (and grandfather too possibly) died at this time. The first thing he did was to work as an apprentice in the machine shop of Gregory, Coe and Pollock, in Selma, where he served his apprenticeship of four years. By nature, he was a perfectionist. He learned well. At eighteen, he worked on the Alabama Central Railroad. He went many places, following the rails and even the rivers. Friends often said "Billy, go with me to Louisville (or somewhere). I'll get you a job." William usually went. He managed to live in some way. He boasted that he was never out of work even throughout depressions and panics. This was his only boast. No one ever knew of the hardships, nor of the courage and fortitude of this boy, who at fourteen, was thrown on his own resources in a war-torn country. He was handsome, friendly and ready for fun, and so made friends. He was painstaking, eager and affable, and so found jobs and kept them. His work took him into several states. In Durant, Mississippi, in 1878, William had yellow fever. An older man took care of him when no one else would risk going near a yellow fever patient, and he thought, saved his life. This was during the great Mississippi epidemic.

In 1883, William was in Knoxville, Tennessee, working as an engineer on the railroad running between Chattanooga and Bristol. The pretty, petite Minnie Beckett Gladney was on his train. When they stopped at Cleveland, a friend introduced William to Minnie. She was on her way to visit her mother's niece and her family, Mr. and Mrs. John Plant. She remained and gave music lessons and played the organ for the Methodist Church. William and Minnie were married in Knoxville on June 8, 1884. They lived "in a little new house" in Knoxville only a short time.

During this time William was seriously injured in a wreck on a passenger train which he was operating between Chattanooga and Bristol. Although the wreck happened through no fault of his, the railroad paid William no compensation, and so he gave up his railroading career.

In 1886, William and Minnie moved to the booming city of Birmingham, Alabama. Birmingham had been founded in 1871. In 1886, it was "an awful looking place," according to William. The railroad station was a box car. Later they moved to East Lake where they lived until 1922 when they moved to Florida, the result of ill health of William.

As a result of his long experience training on the job, William became an expert Mechanical Engineer, holding important positions such as Master Mechanic of the transportation system between Birmingham and East Lake, and as Chief Engineer in charge of the Avondale Cotton Mills, operated by Governor B. B. Comer of Alabama.

Although William was a painstaking and conscientious workman, his home life came first with him. William's (or "Willie" as he always was to her) affection was always flavored a bit with wonder - wonder that to her he came first. When they were married, William was hungry for a home and love. Minnie gave him both, and for good measure, in addition, a mother-in-law who loved him. Minnie dedicated her life to "taking care of papa." To William, this was something to be cherished, and cherish her he did throughout fifty-nine years. Had he lived three more months, William Curtis Grant would have reached the age of ninety years. To the hour of his death, he was one of the most lovable and courteous members of that vanishing race, a Southern Gentleman.

Notes for William Alexander Kerr:

After death of his parents, William's mother's brother, William Strong Gladney was his court appointed guardian.

In the year 1901 a U.S. Post Office was in operation in the home of Sarah Jane Hutchinson Kerr and William Alexander Kerr. Rural free delivery was nonexistent at that time in the area; so every few miles there was a small post office. The closest neighbor offices were "Tampa" at Joe and Maggie (Stevenson) Carr's place, "Rome" at Harry Tabor's home, about two miles further down the road was "Rural Hill." People walked or rode horses to Kerr about three times a week to pick up their incoming mail or leave their outgoing mail.

The job of transporting bags of mail from one post office to the next office was contracted and horseback was the mode of travel.

In 1906, a son and his wife, Henry Davis Kerr and Bennie Anna Van Landingham Kerr took over the post office.

The steel stamp saying Kerr, Mississippi which has a wooden handle and was used to cancel postage stamps, was found under the original house in 1948. At that time the dwelling that contained the post office of "Kerr" was torn down to build the present home of Emmette and Eloise (Kerr) Whitmire.

(Written by Bessie Eloise Kerr Whitmire for the "Families of Choctaw County Mississippi".)

She was born 06 Nov 1860 in Citrus Heights, Sacramento County CA, and died 04 Nov 1939 in Woodland, Yolo County CA.

Notes for Shadrack Gladney:

Shadrack was my grandfather. He always hated the name of Shadrack and every document he ever signed was as S. Gladney. He was called Rack by everyone. Granddad Gladney served as Supervisor of the Fifth District in Yolo County for many years. He retired as supervisor when his hearing became so bad.

Granddad was a farmer all of his life in the Guinda area. He passed away in his home on May 17, 1942.

I have really fond memories of my grandfather--He would come down for the mail everyday and always came into the house to visit. He would always have a penny for each of us 3 kids and we would run to the store for a piece of candy--quite a memory of a great gent.

His ashes are buried in the Gladney family plot in the Sylvan Cemetery, Citrus Heights CA.

Occupation: Orchardist - his entire life

Residence: Guinda CA from 1895 until he passed away

Notes for Edwina Josephine Daly:

Edwina was my grandmother. She went by the name of Jo all of her life. I have very fond memories of Grandma Gladney. After her marriage to Granddad Gladney (Rack) she moved to Guinda and spent her entire life there on a ranch about 2 1/2 miles beyond Guinda. Granddad had moved there before the marriage and settled on a ranch and built a house. This house still stands today and is lived in by the Paul Muller's who purchased the property from my father, Roy T. Gladney.

Every summer Grandma would make a trip to Camp Sacramento in the Sierras. Grandma loved to camp and whenever she had the opportunity to go--she went. It really didn't matter too much where it was, she just loved the adventure of it. She enjoyed going to Sacramento to visit with her family. She would go by train from Guinda or later on by stage from Guinda. It was an all day trip in those days.

Grandma would go anywhere and do anything--she loved life.

Grandma was a very practical person. Every Christmas the gifts were clothing. I never remember getting a toy from her. It's rather odd, as I find myself doing exactly the same thing with our grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Grandma was buried on her birthday, November 6, 1939 and is buried in the Sylvan Cemetery in Citrus Heights CA in the Gladney family plot.

I found Grandma Gladney's hand written will but the quality is so poor that I could not reproduce it, so I will attempt to write it here. Part of it is missing, so I will record what I have:

This is the way I would like my few belongings divided. Roy and family the hair wreath, Indian stones and arrowheads, my earring and snow flower dishes, letter "G" pillowslips.

Edna to get my crazy quilt and all old style dishes in the cupboards. The silverware, my silver wedding silverware from Antelope and Matties.

The cedar chest and contents, except quilts, for Andrew if he ever gets a Home of his own.

Edna to get the love seat and tatted trimmed pillowslips. The picture of the old home and the round baskets. All of the jewelry except the earrings.

Andrew to get the old coins and library and the quilts, Annie's old quilt and the double wedding ring if he ever gets a home.

Jimmie is to have the stamps.

Richard is to have my father's old ledger and scrap book. It is now at Aunt Mary's.

Miriam the Scotty rug and George Needham's painted picture.

Stanley to have his Mothers picture.

Patsey to have my big vase and her--

Evidently there was another page, but this was all I had of the will.

In the history that Aunt Belle Raynsford wrote, she said Grandma Gladney was the first child born on the ranch near Antelope. She was born the day Lincoln was elected President of the United States.

241. Franklin Young⁷ Gladney (John Matthew⁶, Samuel Strong⁵, Richard⁴, Richard³, William², Richard¹) was born 06 Apr 1877 in Auburn, Lincoln County MO, and died 28 Oct 1961 in St. Louis, St. Louis County MO. He married Katherine Lewis Graves 14 Nov 1906 in Montgomery City, Montgomery County MO, daughter of James Graves and ???. She was born 10 Mar 1882 in Montgomery City MO, and died 15 Mar 1938 in St. Louis, St. Louis County MO.

Notes for Franklin Young Gladney:

Frank Young Gladney was born on a farm near Auburn MO. He received his early education in a one-room school house; his high school education by studying at home for the examinations for a state certificate; his Missouri University education with the help of student jobs and scholarship aid; and his Columbia University law degree with tuition grants from the university and a weekend job as conductor on a Coney Island trolley car.

He entered the practice of the law in St. Louis in 1902, and continued it for 58 years until illness reduced his vigor in 1960. His knowledge of patent law was prodigious and his book, Restraints of Trade in Patented Articles, clarified a confused tangle of conflicting decisions of the Supreme Court and the lower Federal Courts. He was retained by some of the largest corporations in St. Louis, Boston and New York to represent them in cases which he argued before the Supreme Court of the United States.

During the 1930's he served as chairman of the American Citizenship Committee of the Bar Association of St. Louis, and in 1937 he set up an endowment fund through the Columbia University Alumni Federation to provide a dormitory room for a needy law student each year.

In 1921 he joined with C. L. Grigg and Edmund G. Ridgway in the incorporation and capitalization of the Howdy Company, which had been started in the spring of 1920 as a co-partnership composed of Mr. Grigg and Mr. Ridgway. These three were officers and directors of the company through the 1920's and 1930's, the name being changed to The Seven-Up Company in 1936. Mr. Gladney was secretary-treasurer of the company at the time of his decease.

To 7-Uppers Mr. Gladney will perhaps be best remembered for his stirring speeches at Developers' meetings. He always fussed when he was asked to appear on the program, and for days before the meeting he would go through a ritual of complaining that there was nothing he could say that hadn't already been said. In the privacy of his study he made copious notes on blocks of the ruled yellow paper that served for the first drafts of his most famous briefs and other writings.

When he came before the meeting, free of notes or script, he disdained the lectern and strode to the center of the stage, where a microphone had been placed in hopeful anticipation. It was pure happenstance if he spoke to this instrument, however. He didn't like to "talk through that little auger hole," as he termed it, and he customarily paced back and forth as he warmed to his subject, occasionally slapping the top of the hapless mike for emphasis.

His effect upon his audience was electric. He transmitted his convictions of the fundamentals for success in business and the splendor of his vision of the future of 7-Up. The fundamentals were well set forth in the prospectus he wrote for the formation of The Howdy Company in 1921: "Success in a selling enterprise requires: 1. An article of merit; that is to say, one for which there is some real durable demand; 2. Knowledge, skill and persistent industry in pushing it; and 3. The requisite capital to make effort fruitful." These principles applied as well to the growth and progress of 7-Up through the "knowledge, skill and persistent industry" of 7-Up Developers and The Seven-Up Company.

His abiding thought of the future was a theme that ran through his speeches: "We can't know the future, and it is a wonderful thing that we can't...the reason we can't know the future is that we have TO MAKE the future. It doesn't just happen; it is a result of our activity. Your view of the future will be decisively important in determining what that future shall be. There never was a set of men better prepared, it seems to me, to take advantage of that enormous future expansion of business than the 7-Up Developers."

The vision shone forth in every speech he made to a 7-Up audience. His address to 900 men and women of the 7-Up world, at the First International Seven-Up Developers Meeting in St. Louis in 1946, concluded with these words: "If you will not permit yourselves to forget the formula for your success, and follow that formula regardless of your past accomplishments, then 7-Up has a greater future than any of us have foreseen. I still hope to see Mr. C. L. Grigg's great vision turned into a reality. For fifteen years I have seen it coming nearer every year. If only you Developers are fully alive to your opportunity, 7-Up will take its place where it belongs. And that is not third place or second place. It is elsewhere, and you know where."

He attended the University of Missouri and Columbia for his law degree and went on to become a foremost patent attorney of his time.

He made sacrifices in his early career. He didn't want to be a police court lawyer, even if it would mean some immediate comforts for his family. He followed his specialty and won his first big case in contention with General Electric.

Lawyer Gladney sued GE in behalf of his client, H. G. Ferguson Incandescent Lamp Company, charging infringement of patent. GE offered to settle for $20,000 but Gladney turned it down. He finally settled for a quarter of a million dollars, his first substantial law fee, and the wolf fled from the door. This was in 1913.

He wrote patent articles for Outlook and the Saturday Evening Post and published a book, Restraint of Trade in Patent Articles. His son, Graves Gladney has a letter written by President Taft congratulating Franklin Gladney on the book.

Taft, as a judge, had ruled contrary to the Gladney contention in the suit against GE. In his letter Taft said Gladney was right, and that he, Taft, was wrong in that decision.

Gladney retained his respect for learning and endowed scholarships at Columbia. When he died he left great wealth, and when his son Graves, as executor, opened the safe deposit box he was startled by a cool million dollars in cash, and other securities, placed there by his father whose foresight warned him that a big estate meant big taxes. Meanwhile Uncle Sam had increased estate taxes.

Estate taxes ran to three million dollars. The million in cash and the securities made it possible to save a substantial part of the estate.

OBIT

Mr. Frank Y. Gladney, secretary-treasurer and member of the board of directors of The Seven-Up Company, died at his home in St. Louis, Oct. 28, 1961. Mr. Gladney was 84 years old and had continued his law practice and his daily visits to the 7-Up offices until 1960, when declining health forced him to restrict his activities. The immediate cause of death was aplastic anemia. Funeral services were held Oct. 30 in Central Presbyterian Church, where he had taught the men's Bible class for several years. With Mr. C. L. Grigg and Mr. Edmund G. Ridgeway, Mr. Gladney formed The Howdy Company which became The Seven-Up Company in 1935. His profound legal knowledge and wide experience in corporate management and finance served always in the guidance of the affairs of The Seven-Up Company. His addresses at 7-Up meetings were warmly acclaimed and long remembered for the sound and uncompromising principles he set forth, for the abiding confidence in 7-Up developers he exemplified, and for the stirring vision of the 7-Up destiny which he made to fill the minds and the imagination of his listeners. His belief and his vision are engraved in the memories of all who know him and drew strength from him. (obit from The Seven-Up Company)

She was born 14 Jan 1866 in Shelby County KY, and died 26 Feb 1945 in Sardis, Panola County MS.

Notes for Richard Henry Beckett Gladney:
(The following obituary article entitled "Memoirs of R. H. B. Gladney" by E. G. Mohler appeared in a 1941 publication of the Methodist Church North Mississippi Conference.)

Rev. Richard Henry Beckett Gladney, aged 77, died at his home, Sardis MS, at 4 P.M., Sunday, March 23, 1941, marking the earthly end of a beautiful effective and faithful ministry. He was a native of Buena Vista in Chickasaw County. He entered the ministry of the North Mississippi Conference which met in Starkville, December 1888. He was licensed to preach the gospel by the quarterly conference of Verona and Tupelo Station, Aberdeen District, August 23, 1886. His license was signed by Rev. R. G. Potter, P.E. and J. H. Long, Secretary.

He served faithfully and intelligently the following charges: Indianola, 1889; Dublin, 1890; Belen, 1891; Bolivar 1892; Gunnison, 1895-98; Eupora, 1899; Pickens, 1900-02; Holly Springs, 1903-06; Starkville, 1907-09; Macon, 1910-11; Sardis, 1912-13; Kosciusko, 1914. From 1914 to 1930 he served as Executive Secretary of the then Sunday School Board of our Conference, in which field he was a pioneer, and outstanding leader in the field of Christian Education, doing constructive and abiding work and laying the foundation of our present Christian Educational Program. During this period of pioneering work, Brother Gladney typed the thinking and ministry of many of our present preachers, especially those who had the vision and will to follow his wise leadership.

Retiring from the field of Christian Education, he was appointed to Jonestown and Conhoma 1931-35, Duncan and Alligator 1936-37. At the Conferences of 1937, because of failing health, he asked to be superannuated, spending his last four years quietly and uncomplainingly with his loved one at home in Sardis MS.

He leaves behind his faithful wife, Mrs. Annette Connelly Gladney, four devoted daughters, one dutiful son, six brothers and one sister, many appreciative friends and hundreds of spiritual children brought into the Kingdom of God as a result of his faithful ministry, prayer life, spiritual preaching and personal work. These spiritual children some day will rise up and call him 'blessed.'

Brother Gladney died as he lived, in peace and faith. He passed away in the late hours of the night, just a little while after the close of a period of sacred communion with his wife, in which he talked so tenderly of their lives together, praising God for His unspeakable goodness, speaking of their approaching anniversary, of their children and many common experiences together, little dreaming it would be the last conversation with his partner and helpmate, his faithful wife.

"Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, the end of that man is peace." Psalm 37-37.

Brother Gladney was a good man in all essentials. He was prophetic in his ministry, blessed with a keen sense of spiritual insight, able always to discern spiritual values, to separate the chaff from the wheat, the true from the false. He hated shams, pretense and humbuggery. Nothing but the real attracted him. He had a contempt for "time-servers," ecclesiastical politicians, chislers in the ministry or in other areas of life. He was uncompromising in his convictions and was scathing in his condemnation of shavers and tamperers of the truth. He would positively refuse to go with the crowd or to play politics for the sake of expediency. In years of intimate association, never did the writer see him compromise the truth or let his Lord down in a moral crisis.

Brother Gladney had the courage of his conviction, wholly without fear of men and would often swear to his own hurt rather than turn his back on the light as he saw it. He stood on his feet, thought for himself, drew his own conclusions and was unmovable and steadfast in the face of the fiercest storms.

Brother Gladney loved his church passionately, her doctrines, history, traditions and institutions. He gave freely his labor of love, expecting in return only the approval of the Father. He was a preacher of power, prayer, devotion, a prophet of God in the truest sense. He loved people and because he loved them he would tell them the truth. Spiritually and in vision he was always in advance of his time; hence, quite often, a lonesome prophet.

He loved companionship and craved understanding. Devoted to his friends, happy in his home, he appreciated all the beauties of life. Our friend is not dead but lives with the redeemed in heaven.

"There is no death, the stars go down...To rise upon another shore...And bright in heaven's jeweled crown...They shine forever more."

Notes for Hugh Gladney Grant:

Resume of career in "Who's Who In America," Vol. 30, 1958-59.

STORY OF HUGH GLADNEY GRANT as told by Cora Hibbs Grant

I have now come to the story of Hugh Gladney Grant. By the time Hugh was three years old, Minnie knew that she had one of the Gladneys. I have seen letters he copied from newspapers before he was three. I have some copies of a magazine which he wrote and edited, laboriously printing by hand, at the age of eight. His adored and adoring Grandmother Gladney, whom he called Bom, was his only subscriber. She paid him ten cents per copy. Those dimes were fortunes to Hugh. He never worked as hard for any money he ever earned.

Hugh called his publication the Sunrise Monthly. He wrote news items, wrote and illustrated stories. His mother contributed items for the Woman's Page. When he was twelve, he got a job as office boy for the Birmingham Street Railway Company at $3.00 per week. He recalls that one of his principal duties was to keep his boss supplied with bicarbonate of soda.

Hugh had other jobs in his boyhood and he saved his money, putting it in a savings account. In 1907, during a panic, he was fearful of losing his money, and so he went down to draw it out of the bank. The banker told him he would lose his interest if he withdrew the account. "Keep your interest, but give me my money", Hugh replied. He got his money - six hundred silver dollars in two huge money sacks. He lugged them home where Bom kept watch over them until the panic ended.

Hugh was a very energetic little boy and early showed signs of leadership. His father, hoping he would become a mechanical engineer, got him fine toy engines - but Hugh was no mechanic. William made a real tramway car which ran down hill on a real track and held several small boys. And Hugh made up splendid games. The boys gave a circus, even making a huge tent by sewing "toesacks" together. The Grant house attracted boys as a magnet. The grownups made them welcome - Bom looked after the toys and Minnie kept the cookie jar filled.

Hugh was active in the church. He got his first training in public speaking in the Young People's organization of the church. He and a co-worker edited and published a Sunday School newspaper called the Ruhama Baraca. At the age of twenty-five, Hugh was Superintendent of the Sunday School and a member of the Board of Deacons.

Having been brought up on stories of his illustrious Great-Uncle, Colonel William Henry Fowler, who was a newspaper editor, Hugh got a job as a Cub Reporter on the Birmingham News at about 17 or 18. He worked on the News, under Frank P. Glass, who was considered one of the South's greatest newspaper editors. When Hugh asked Mr. Glass for a job, the distinguished editor asked: "Young man, do you have a nose for news?" Hugh replied: "I do not know, but I would like to find out." "All right, young man, you begin work tomorrow - working for nothing," replied Editor Glass. After two weeks, Hugh began receiving twelve dollars per week. Hugh worked on the News during vacations and after school for several years.

Hugh attended Prep School and college at Howard College in East Lake where he received his A. B. degree in 1910. He helped with his expenses by working as Secretary to the President, Dr. A. P. Montague. Hugh took part in the social life of the college, town and church during these years. He was interested in dramatics and often took part in and helped to direct plays.

Howard College had a military department. One of Hugh's most amusing experiences was in connection with this Howard College Military Corps. During the autumn of 1904, a unit of Howard Cadets, under Colonel Will Berry, went to the World's Fair in St. Louis. The entire trip cost Hugh $25.00. They lived in barracks inside the grounds; so their first entrance fee and their railroad fare just about covered their expenses.

In payment for their living space inside the fair grounds, they were supposed to drill at a certain time each day for the two weeks they were there. The first day they shined their buttons and their shoes, pressed their uniforms and proudly set forth to do their "stuff" on the drill field. No boys were ever more chagrined. A crack Filipino Company followed them and drilled so much better than they that the Howard College Corps never appeared again on the drill field.

Hugh was a member of a debating society at Howard College. He made his first public appearance in the Alabama State Oratorical contest as Howard's representative at Selma. It was held in the old Selma Opera House which is still standing. He stopped in the Hotel Albert which had been built in 1854, the year before Hugh's father was born near Selma. Competing in the contest were Howard College, Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn and Southern Methodist University at Greensboro. Auburn won.

While he was a student at Howard, Hugh was hit by the wanderlust "bug." At 18, he took a trip through the East entirely alone. He did not miss one thing. At each city visited, beginning with Washington, he bought a guide book for the next, which he studied on the trips between cities. It was this trip which whetted his appetite for further travel and so he determined to attend an Eastern university. When he graduated from Howard College, he was awarded a scholarship at Harvard University. He was advised to enter the undergraduate rather than the graduate school so that he would be a member of the student body and be closer to the members of the faculty. He did this and so he received his second A. B. degree in 1912, having majored in Government.

Hugh was invited to join the Speakers' Club at Harvard which emphasized training in extemporaneous speaking. The next year he won a silver cup in a speaking contest. About the same time he won a $50.00 prize in a contest sponsored by Collier's National Weekly for the best essay on the newspaper situation in leading American cities. Hugh's article was about Birmingham.

In August, 1916 Hugh married Cora Hibbs, from Kentucky, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Hibbs. Dr. Hibbs at that time was pastor of the East Lake Baptist Church. Their daughter, Esther Louise, was born in August, 1917. Hugh served in the Army YMCA and in the U. S. Army during the first World War. Mustered out of the Army after the Armistice, he did newspaper work for a brief period. He then returned to educational work with the newly established Federal Board for Vocational Education in New Orleans. Subsequently he was transferred to Alabama and later was appointed to the staff of the Alabama State Department of Education in Montgomery. Two years later he joined the faculty of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn where he taught History, Political Science and Journalism.

I will add here what Hugh probably does not know. As a teacher, Hugh was a natural - in short a good teacher. He enjoyed teaching but loathed the system of grading which was then in vogue. And then the wide, wide world beckoned.

In 1926, Hugh L. Black, whom Hugh had known in Birmingham, was elected to the U. S. Senate. He invited Hugh to go to Washington with him as his Executive Secretary. As a teacher of Political Science, Hugh decided to accept the offer in order to see first hand how the national government operated. He planned to return to the teaching profession, and had given me a solemn promise to this effect.

Becoming interested in international affairs, Hugh enrolled in night classes in The George Washington University, School of Government. He received his Master's Degree in 1931 and continued his studies until he completed the major portion of the work for a Ph. D. degree in Political Science. While at George Washington University, Hugh was elected to Pi Gamma Mu, Honor Society in the Social Sciences.

On the basis of his studies in Political Science and International Relations, Hugh received an appointment in the Division of Western European Affairs in the State Department under Secretary of State Cordell Hull. While in the State Department in 1934-35 Hugh made the Commencement Address at Howard College and was awarded an LLD degree. After serving two years in the Department of State, Hugh was appointed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt as United States Minister to Albania, one of the Balkan Nations in Southeastern Europe.

Hugh served the U. S. Government in Albania for four years (1935-1939). He maintained very friendly relations with the Albanian people, with King Zog and members of the Albanian government. King Zog awarded Hugh the Order of Skanderbeg, Albania's highest award. Hugh remained in charge of the American Legation in Albania until five months after Mussolini's invasion of Albania in April 1939 - a prelude to World War II.

Hugh, Louise and I had considerable difficulty in getting out of Europe since Hitler, having invaded Poland on September 1, 1939, the Big War was on. At the time, Louise was finishing up her studies at the Sorbonne in Paris. She had previously had a year of study at the Brilliantmont School in Lausanne, Switzerland. On September 27, 1939, Hugh was in Albania closing the Legation, I was in Greece trying to get a boat for New York and Louise was in Paris. We finally got together at Bordeaux, France and sailed for home on the S. S. Manhattan, in submarine infested waters.

A few weeks later Hugh was appointed by President Roosevelt as U. S. Minister to Thailand (Siam). Louise and I went along and after a long sea voyage by way of Japan, China and the Philippines, we reached Bangkok, the Capital, in the late summer of 1940. Immediately, Hugh found himself in another political hotspot, since the Siamese were preparing to go to war against the French in neighboring Indo-China. Under instructions from Secretary Hull, Hugh endeavored to prevent this war, since, obviously, it was a part of the Japanese plot to take over Southeast Asia. In the face of both Siamese and Japanese vigorous opposition, Hugh stood his ground, carrying out the policy of his government in attempting to maintain the Status Quo in Southeast Asia. In this way, Hugh became the object of intrigue by both the Siamese and Japanese governments. Shortly after Hugh's return to Washington in the late fall of 1941, war in the Pacific broke out, the Siamese joining up with the Japanese in waging war against the United States.

During World War II Hugh was engaged by the War Department as an Orientation Lecturer on "The Background of the War," based on his diplomatic experiences and observations in Europe and in Asia. He spoke in U. S. Army Camps and before civic groups throughout the country.

Upon the conclusion of his lecture tour, Hugh was appointed by General Hines, head of the Veterans Administration, to organize in Oregon the program for the rehabilitation of the wounded service men returning to the United States from the Pacific War. Later he was transferred back East and he retired from government service in 1950.

On the basis of his experiences in the State Department and abroad and his lectures on the International Situation, Hugh became a radio commentator. Meanwhile he lectured in Georgia and other Southern States, and following the Supreme Court public school Segregation decision of May 17, 1954, he was active in organizing the States' Rights Council of Georgia and was its first president. He also helped to organize the Federation for Constitutional Government, and is on the Executive Committee of this organization. He is a member of the National Policy Committee of a national patriotic States' Rights organization, FOR AMERICA. He has spoken in a number of States and has written many articles and brochures on the subject of States' Rights, several of which have been published in the Congressional Record. In 1956, he was active in the National Independent Political Campaign, and was on the National Committee for the election of Andrews and Werdel as President and Vice President of the United States.

Although a Southern Democrat, Hugh's political philosophy is that the two major political parties have outlived their usefulness and are in fact only one party. He believes the time has arrived for the formation of a Conservative Party as opposed to the so-called "Liberals", which today control both the Democratic and Republican parties, driving the nation rapidly toward a Socialistic State in which free enterprise and individual liberties will be completely destroyed.

Hugh Gladney Grant is listed in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA, WHO'S WHO IN THE SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST, and during his diplomatic career, was listed in the INTERNATIONAL WHO'S WHO.

Signed, Cora Hibbs Grant

Notes for Clark Jackson Gladney:

Imagine attempting to start a telephone company in a town having no telephone service. Clark J. Gladney tried it in 1906-07 and succeeded. To accomplish the feat he needed to install a switchboard, set telephone poles, and string wire to the home or business of each subscriber. He was only 24 years of age, newly married, and with about $750 capital, moreover, he had no telephone experience. The switchboard was installed in their home, and his wife, Beulah Jeans Gladney, handled the calls when he was not able to do so.

Seven years later the exchange had grown to about 220 telephones, in an area with a population of 400, with 40 customers in town, and the remainder on farm lines. The town was Winfield, Missouri, in Lincoln County, where Clark was reared, and where many Gladneys in this book were born and grew up. Clark was the great-grandson of Samuel and Margaret Wilson Gladney, original Gladney settlers in Missouri.

In 1914 Mr. Gladney sold the exchange in Winfield, and with the experience gained thus far, decided to purchase the telephone company at Edgerton, across the state of Missouri 300 miles to the west. By that time two boys had been born, and the young family started a new venture, except that this time the telephone plant was an operating one. It was larger, and the switchboard was in an office "downtown," and there were several employees, who worked at the switchboard, and in the office.

In 1921 Mr. Gladney sold the telephone exchange in Edgerton and purchased the exchange in Edina, Missouri. The number of telephones in service were about 700. In 1927 the Edina Company was sold and The Laclede Telephone Company in Lebanon, Missouri was purchased. It was considerably larger, but information on the number of telephones in service is not available.

Those of you who have been in business for yourself can appreciate the hard work and worry involved in this type of endeavor. Mr. Gladney's son, Victor, from whom most of this information was obtained, tells me that on the occasion of a severe wind or winter sleet storm his father experienced many anxious hours for fear such a storm would leave his telephone system a tangled mess of poles and wires. Insurance was not available to cover the risk. Fortunately no big storm came during his ownership.

This is another narrative of past events which help us to understand more about our forefathers and how they built this country of ours out of a wilderness.

She was born 16 Jun 1903 in Cuba, Allegany County NY, and died 24 Oct 1994 in Woodland, Yolo County CA.

Notes for Roy Thomas Gladney:

Roy was born in Oak Park, Sacramento County CA. His mother, Edwina, would come to Sacramento and stay with her family each time she was ready to give birth. Guinda was 50 plus miles from Sacramento and that was a long ways to go if you were in a hurry.

When Roy was 17 he won a trip sponsored by the Future Farmers of America when he was a senior in Esparto High School. His project for FFA was a hog and the trip was his prize, actually a very nice reward! He left Guinda on October 15th and returned November 15, 1916. Quite a trip for a 17 year old kid. The group travelled extensively throughout the US.

Dad served in the US Army during World War I in France. He was gassed during the war and received a disability pension from the government until he passed away.

Dad was a farmer all of his life. He farmed with his father until Granddad Gladney passed away. Richard joined him in farming after World War II. Dad also had a dairy business and for many years sold milk to the Home Milk Company in Sacramento and later to the Crystal Creamery in Sacramento. Stan delivered milk throughout this time for the dairies. The main crop on the ranch was almonds. In addition to ranching, he worked for the County during the depression years in the road maintenance department.

After the war the folks bought 3 lots up at Lake Almanor and started to build a cabin (house!) there in 1946. They kept this place until about 1958 when they sold it, bought a house trailer and always went back to Lake Almanor! They purchased the property we now own in about 1961 from Nettie Wilson, who owned all of Pratville. Dad loved it up at Almanor as he was an avid fisherman and loved to go trout fishing on the lake in his boat. In addition to fishing, his other hobby was hunting. Notes for Dorothy Ida Peterson:

Mom graduated from Esparto High School in 1921; she had completed all of the requirements in 3 years.

My mother was one of the first "women's libber" I do believe. She was appointed Postmaster in the Guinda office in April 1, 1925 and retired on July 31, 1970. At the time she retired she had the longest length of service in the U.S. as Postmaster. She received a letter from President Richard M. Nixon honoring her for the service in the postal system. She cherished that letter. In addition to being postmaster, in her younger days she also would sell Maytag washers and Eureka vacuum cleaners. She would load them on the trunk of the car and away she would go to sell them, her main customers were local ranchers wives.

Mom caught scarlet fever in 1940 and shortly thereafter had her first heart attack. However, it never slowed her down. In her latter years, she had many health problems, the final blow coming in March 1992 when she fell and broke her hip. From that time on it was necessary that she be in a skilled nursing home in Woodland as it was impossible for her to care for herself and being so far from a city, help was not readily available to allow her to remain in her home. She loved this house and up until the day she died, she always wanted to go home.

Mom and Dad really enjoyed their motor home. They loved going over to Trinidad and go salmon fishing. Mom and Dad would can salmon until it came out their ears! When we cleaned out Mom's home after her death, we threw canned salmon away. Trinidad is a very 'artsy' place and Mom loved it as she loved to do anything with her hands. She was an extremely talented seamstress, creating arts and craft things, or if anything that needed to be built, she would do it.

Marriage Notes for Roy Gladney and Dorothy Peterson:

Roy and Dorothy were married in the Baptist Church in Woodland CA on October 2, 1921. They celebrated their 50th anniversary with a party held at Country Club Lanes in Sacramento CA. They celebrated their 63rd anniversary on October 2, 1984 and Dad passed away on November 17, 1984. Mom and Dad had gone to Lake Almanor in September 1984 and shortly thereafter Dad passed away. Mom never went back to Almanor after Dad's death. For some reason she was afraid of the altitude and never braved it. Prior to their going to Almanor this last time, they had just returned from the coast (Trinidad area) and here these two older folks drove a house trailer (Dad driving) and Mom driving the car pulling a boat, a distance of about 350 miles from Guinda, where they lived.

moved to Antelope CA onto the old Gladney ranch. He raised mostly almonds and grain on the ranch in Antelope. In Winters he had raised apricots and peaches and many animals.

He was a school trustee for the Winters Elementary School. In Antelope he was a volunteer fireman and the firetruck was housed on the property.

Born in 1907, Graves Gladney grew up in Missouri. Upon graduating High school he attended art school in London. He returned to the United States about 1934 settling in St. Louis. Realizing that New York City was the place to be to capitalize on his talent, he picked up and moved his family there selling his first commercial work, a lively polo scene, to Fortune Magazine in late 1935.

He quickly found work illustrating the covers of the pulp magazines. It is said that Gladney produced an amazing 275 covers over his pulp career -- an impressive portfolio with titles like Adventure, Crime Busters, Mystery, Dime Mystery, and several Clues Detectives in early 1939. Like H.W. Scott, Gladney also worked on John W. Campbell's short-lived fantasy magazine "Unknown" in 1939 during which time he produced just three of the dozen covers that graced the meteoric magazine.

Gladney also produced four covers for Street & Smith's science fiction anthology "Astounding." The last of the four Astounding covers was for the July 1939 issue which presented readers with A.E. Van Vogt and Isaac Asimov's first work to appear in the publication. He also illustrated the covers for the March, May and June issues that year.

Graves Gladney's bread and butter was doing the covers for the biggest hero pulp around, Street & Smith's "The Shadow." Though the magazine was published at this time on a hectic bi-weekly schedule, Gladney never let the readers down, turning out some really wonderful covers for the magazine between April 1939 and September of 1941.

Gladney was friends with "Doc Savage" cover artist Emery Clark and the two would sometimes pose for one another and paint each other into each other's covers. A fine example is Clark's cover for "The Devil Genghis" (Doc Savage Magazine December 1938). Here, Clark paints himself as the man on the left with gray hair and Gladney as the man in the middle wearing a hat.

Gladney took over the mantle of "Avenger" cover artist at a time when the magazine was in flux. The editorial department was making drastic changes in the book -- gone was the dead visage and white hair, now there was a younger character and a bigger, bolder supporting cast all ready for action! With the departure of H.W. Scott from the cover, Graves Gladney was enlisted to take over in addition to still turning out covers for the immensely more popular Shadow series.

It took Gladney a few covers to settle in to the task. If that's supposed to be the new improved Benson on his first two covers -- he was still undergoing some changes. By the July issue he had managed to find a Benson that suited his style, honed on all those "Shadow" covers. Gladney couldn't rely on a stock iconography as he had with "The Shadow" or Scott had had for most of his "Avenger" covers. All he had was an extraordinary individual who now looked like anyone else. You can put him in peril on the cover, but it had better be an exciting cover if you want to get the readers' attention, and more importantly their 10¢. Unfortunately, no sooner had he settled in then he was gone, leaving behind a short four cover legacy, but important none the less.

It was around this time that 30 year old Graves Gladney heeded the call so many other young Americans had and was drafted into service in late 1941 or early 1942 serving in the 82nd Airborne in France.

After his return from active duty he returned to St. Louis, MO where he accepted a teaching position with Washington University's School of Art in 1949. He taught there until 1961 when he chose to retire, spending his retirement painting subjects that appealed to him.

Sadly, he passed away in 1976 of a massive heart attack.

After the turn of the century, and the coming of automobiles the town of Kimmswick MO was bypassed and almost forgotten. Many historic buildings fell into decay and were torn down. The loss of boat and train traffic and the building of nearby Hwy 55 almost sealed the fate of Kimmswick MO.

However, in 1969, Lucianna Gladney Ross, led an energetic movement to save the town. An active Kimmswick Historical Society continues the effort of restoration and now has a museum in what was once the Kimmswick Bible Church at 3rd and Vine Streets.

Notes for Florence Louise Trussell:
Louise Trussell Norris Gladney ended more than ninety-six years of valuable and joyful living on Saturday, January 17. Her busy and useful life was closely involved with many aspects of the community. Many from this area knew her through her valuable work during her years as head of the home economics department at Rayville High School where she instilled service and joy in living as an integral part of her curriculum. Her personal endorsement of a useful and optimistic life greatly influenced the young people in her charge, and was reflected in her service in the adult world of church and community.

Florence Louise Trussell was born to Ivy and Frank Trussell at their farm/home north of Simsboro, LA. She was reared in the family/church community of Antioch, where self-reliance, personal integrity, and concern for one's neighbors were nurturing characteristics-all of which became a part of Louise herself.

Her education was in Lincoln Parish public schools with college at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, earning her degree in Home Economics in 1933. That year she married Homer Norris of Ruston. With the start of World War II 1941, Homer entered the Army, serving for the duration. Louise and their two daughters, Bobbye and Bettye, maintained the home in Ruston.

In 1946, the family moved to Rayville and soon built their home on Julia Street. Another member joined the family when a boy, William Homer, was born at the Rayville Clinic in 1949.

Louise began her teaching career after she was employed as teacher of Home Economics at Rayville High 1949. In 1959, she continued her education by earning her Master of Science degree at Northwestern State University in Natchitoches, LA.

She worked with the Home Economics program, constantly adding variety and depth to her department. She was also very influential in preparing for the coming change to racial integration, and to the drive for more depth in educational demands.

In 1967, she was elected state president of the Home Economics Association of Louisiana, and in the same year received the Louisiana Vocational Association Merit award in recognition of her outstanding service. In 1974, Louise was named Louisiana's Home Economics Teacher of the Year.

Homer died in 1969, and in 1975, Louise married Lyman Gladney of Rayville.

Her teaching skill and knowledge of her material were great strengths, but her influence on her students went even deeper. They knew she could show them how to set in a buttonhole or make a flat fell seam, but they also learned to work together in meetings and to restate their opinions when they differed. They also learned to respect the opinions of fellow students, and to respect their own ideas.

Though the area is saddened by her passing, as it was enriched by her service, the strongest feeling is that of gratitude for having been rewarded with her life.

She is survived by her daughter, Bettye Norris Apalategui of Hillsboro, Oregon, and her husband, Joe, and by her son, William Homer Norris of Simsboro, LA, and wife, Ellis. Grandchildren are Deborah, Doug, and Dan Brown, Adam, Eric, and David Apalategui, and Chris and Jim Norris. She has eight great grandchildren. Her extended family includes step-son, George Gladney and wife, Frances of Rayville, eight step-grandchildren, and eight step-great grandchildren. Louise is preceded in death by husbands, Homer Norris and Lyman Gladney, daughter, Bobbye, and step-daughter, Marcia.

Funeral services are 11:00 AM, Wednesday, January 21, 2009 at the Rayville United Methodist Church with Rev. Ted Freeland officiating. Interment will be at 3:00 PM, at Antioch Cemetery, Simsboro, LA under the direction of Brown-Holley Funeral Home, Rayville, LA.

Mr. Keys, who was 68, died at his home Saturday afternoon after a long illness.

Born near Sardis, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Keys. He was graduated from the University of Mississippi in 1924, but before earning his degree he had been elected to the Mississippi Legislature and served as representative from Panola County from 1916 to 1920.

After teaching school at Potts Camp and Shreveport LA he began practicing law at Sardis in 1927. He served as superintendent of education from 1928 until 1940.

He was a Mason and past president of the Sardis Chamber of Commerce and had served many years on the official board of the Methodist Church.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sara Alice Gladney Keys; a son, Lt. (j.g.) Robert T. Keys, Jr. (USN) of Memphis Naval Air Station at Millington; a daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Davis of University MS; three brothers, G. Thomas Keys and John B. Keys, both of Sardis and Macon Keys of Memphis; a sister, Miss Georgia Keys, and a half-sister, Mrs. John Rayburn of Sardis, and two grandchildren. In the passing from this life of Robert Taylor Keys, Panola County has suffered a distinct loss. Named for a prominent lawyer of our town, Captain Robert Taylor, Robert Taylor Keys early in life developed a desire to follow in the footsteps of the one whose name he bore. This desire was fulfilled and he was privileged to carry on the business of this profession in the same office building formerly occupied by Captain Taylor. However, this ambition was not to be fulfilled in any easy manner, but rather by the hard way of work, teaching, and self denial in his efforts to finish high school, college, and law school.

As proof of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow citizens, Mr. Keys served in the legislative halls of our state and also as County Superintendent of Education for some twelve years. He loved his church and many, many times he taught the Brotherhood Class of the Sardis Methodist Church.

He loved books and he was especially interested in things historical, whether national, state, or county. In the issue of this publication in which it celebrated its One Hundredth Anniversary, there appeared an article "Some Highlights of Panola County Early History, " which was written by Mr. Keys at the request of the editor.

He loved poetry. As he came to the point where he realized that his life was slowly ebbing away, he outlined plans for the conducting of funeral services and at this time he requested that a life-long friend, C. Bryant Young, would recite as part of such services those immortal words of Tennyson's:

Sunset and evening star and one clear call for me,
And may there be no moaning of the bar when I put out to sea,
But such a tide as moving seems asleep, too full for sound or foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell and after that the dark,
And may there be no sadness of farewell when I embark
For though from out my bourn of time and place the tide may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face when I have crossed the bar.

This request was duly carried out and thus Taylor Keys spoke to his friends although he already had "crossed the bar."

1106. Richard Thomas⁹ Gladney (Roy Thomas⁸, Shadrack⁷, Richard Thomas⁶, Samuel Strong⁵, Richard⁴, Richard³, William², Richard¹) was born 22 Dec 1922 in Woodland, Yolo County CA, and died 05 Apr 1997 in Woodland, Yolo County CA. He married Lois Genevieve Lodi 15 May 1948 in Davis, Yolo County CA. She was born 03 Oct 1923 in CA, and died 19 Oct 1994 in Guinda, Yolo County CA.

Notes for Richard Thomas Gladney:

Richard graduated from Esparto High School in 1940. After graduation he attended Los Angeles City College. He lived with Grandma and Granddad Peterson during this time. It was at this time that he hurt his knee playing football for the college and as he got older, this knee bothered him more and more and eventually he had it replaced in about 1993.

Richard enlisted in the US Marines in WWII and served as a dive bomber pilot (SBD Douglas dive bomber) and flew 60 missions over Luzon and Mindanao in the Philippines. He was fortunate and did not receive any injuries from this service. When he returned to the US, he came into Seattle WA and I was living there at the time and what a joy to have him back on US soil. What a surprise to open the door and have him standing there!

Richard was a farmer all of his life. He farmed with my father for many years, until such time as Dad decided to retire--except Dad really did not know what the word retirement meant--he just loved the ranch.

Richard died of a stroke in April 1997 and his ashes were scattered out to sea. He dearly loved to go deep sea fishing and enjoyed the Dillon's Beach area, so that is where he wanted to be. He and his son-in-law, Johnny Wheadon, were great fishing pals.

1107. Miriam Lorraine⁹ Gladney (Roy Thomas⁸, Shadrack⁷, Richard Thomas⁶, Samuel Strong⁵, Richard⁴, Richard³, William², Richard¹) was born 29 Nov 1924 in Esparto, Yolo County CA. She married (1) Russell Bradford Cave 14 Sep 1942 in Reno, Washoe County NV, son of Howard Cave and Aida Ghisla. He was born 07 Jun 1922 in Woodland, Yolo County CA, and died 18 Dec 1988 in Redding, Shasta County CA. She married (2) Charles Edward Faulkner 22 Mar 1962 in Reno, Washoe County NV. He was born 15 Mar 1923 in Philadelphia, Philadelphia County PA, and died 25 Jan 2007.

Notes for Miriam Lorraine Gladney:

I was graduated from Esparto Union High School in May 1942. At that time our graduating class was the largest of any graduating class and it probably still holds that record!

After high school I attended Standard Stenotype School in Sacramento. When the course was completed I went to work at Weaver Tractor Company in Woodland in the office and was only there for about 6 months. I then worked for Woodland Furniture Company for a little over a year--incidentally, I remember making $27 per week which was not a bad wage for the time. In 1944 I went to work in the lab at Spreckles Sugar factory in Woodland. From that time on I did not work, except when they owned Esparto Motors and Miriam would get parts, etc. and did all of the books for the shop.

After the divorce from Russell Cave, I started working in August 1957 for the Esparto Union Elementary School District. I went to work as a substitute employee and found myself in a full-time job within days. One morning I went to work and the office had been ransacked and I immediately called the principal, Walter Hoeft, and informed him of the mess. In a matter of hours I knew exactly what had taken place the night before--Walter was into gambling both in Woodland and Nevada and had been using the school's lunch and milk money and student body funds to help support his habit. He had come in and destroyed all of the records that pertained to the various accounts so no one could determine exactly how much he had taken. He spent several years in jail for this episode and lost his teaching/administrative credentials so that he could not return to the educational field.

My entire career was working in the educational field and as a result I stayed in the same retirement system (Public Employees Retirement System) for the entire time. PERS is one of the most sound retirement systems in the country.

I worked in the following school districts:

Esparto Unified in Esparto

Sacramento City Unified in Sacramento

Oakland Public Schools in Oakland

Sonoma County Office of Education in Santa Rosa

San Juan Unified in Carmichael

I retired from San Juan on March 15, 1986 as Manager of Personnel Compensation (Personnel and Payroll). It was a great job and I loved every minute of it. Ed picked me up at the office and we flew to Kauai for 2 weeks. What a way to start a retirement--it has been fun ever since. We both play a lot of golf and enjoy travelling throughout the US and overseas.

Notes for Russell Bradford Cave:

Russ graduated from Woodland High School in 1941. After graduation he went to work at McCellan Army Depot and worked there until he enlisted.

Russ enlisted in the U.S. Navy and reported for duty on September 16, 1942, 2 days after he and Miriam were married. He was stationed in Farragut, Idaho for his boot camp. From there he was sent to Norman OK for aircraft sheet metal school in January 1943. When these classes were completed in approximately 7 months, he was home for 2 weeks and then shipped out from Treasure Island in San Francisco to the Hawaiian Island. He was stationed at Kaneohe, Oahu for a period of time and then sent out to the Pacific war zone. He was in the Ellis Island in the Marshall for awhile. He was overseas for 18 months, coming back to the US in December 1944.

In January 1945 he reported to Sandpoint Naval Air Station in Seattle WA where he stayed until his discharge on Oct. 16, 1945 in Bremmerton WA. He was discharged one day and Gary was born the next day--talk about timing.

Notes for Charles Edward Faulkner:

Ed enlisted in the U.S. Navy Seabees on August 10, 1943 and reported for duty on August 17. His basic training was at Camp Perry VA. After boot camp he was sent to Quonset Point, Providence RI where he went to pontoon school, then he was sent to Gulfport MS where he prepared to go overseas. While in Gulfport, his son Bruce was born and since he knew he was headed overseas, he stretched a 2 day pass into about 4 days, consequently was AWOL for this period of time, but he figured that this possibly would be the only chance to see his son and the punishment when he returned was well worth the visit.

He was then sent to Port Hueneme CA (near Oxnard) and went by troop ship to Hawaii in February or March of 1944. Here he was in the Navy and so seasick that he could hardly hold his head up!! When he got to Honolulu he immediately went to a restaurant and finished off one huge steak and immediately ordered the second--after being so sick on the ship, he was ready for food on land. He was sent to John Rogers Field, which was a part of Hickham Field at Pearl Harbor. His brother Bruce was stationed on Ford Island in Pearl Harbor which enabled them to get together several times. Bruce was a radioman and had promised Ed a flight over Pearl Harbor and the other island, however, this never happened--the NCO club was between Bruce's barracks and the hanger.

Ed was then transferred to Maui (Hawaii). It was here that he was assigned to the 3rd or 4th Division of the Marines. It was here that they practiced beach landings on a Higgins boat--they practiced every day for battle. While on Maui, he was stationed half way up on Mount Haleakala where it rained every day, as well as sun shined every day.

He left Hawaii on a LSM 202 ship (Landing Ship Medium) and the crossing lasted for 55 or 57 days. The ship stopped in Saipan but the sailors were not allowed off the ship until they reached Iwo Jima. Here again Ed was seasick most of the time, but managed to always eat. He says the food was exceptionally good--the best food he had in the service. There were no chow lines, they sat at regular tables and were served by the ship's crew. The ship's captain obviously knew what was ahead for all the troops.

He had been assigned to the 133rd Naval Construction Battalion when he was in Hawaii. On Feb. 19, 1945 his company was the 1st wave of personnel to hit the beach after the Marines had landed on Iwo Jima. Ed was in the 133rd Division of the Seabees. He has always felt very fortunate to come out of that battle without as much as a scratch as over 50% of his company was killed in that landing on Iwo.

After Iwo Jima, he left to be part of the occupation forces in Japan. He left Iwo in October or November and was sent to Sasebo Harbor, Japan. His division took over an academy in Imari that the Japanese had used for their officer training. The first assignment--delouse the facility. While in Japan, Ed had it pretty good as he trained the newly enlisted arrivals from the US. He was in charge of a large barracks (approximately 200 men) and as the person in charge, he had a private room and had others to keep it spotless.

Ed left Japan on December 15, 1945 and arrived in San Diego CA on December 23. The captain had promised the men they would be in the US for Christmas and at that time it set a record for the shortest length of time to cross the Pacific. The ship took the northern route up by the Aleutian Islands (Alaska) and the ship had no heat and they almost froze to death. The sailors slept in their clothing and anything else they could find to wear or wrap up in. The ship was not prepared for this type of crossing.

On December 31, 1945 Ed flew to Baltimore, Maryland, but was not discharged until January 1, 1946 in Bainbridge, Maryland. By the Navy holding him that one day, he received all of the benefits and allotment money for the month of January. He then returned to the Philadelphia area.

Ed's serial number is 818-25-75.

Ed and his family moved to California in 1951 and lived in San Jose for some time. He and his son Bruce later went to Las Vegas NV for 2 years. While in Vegas he lived with his mother and brother. He had the parking concession at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas and said he really enjoyed that job. After that he moved back to San Jose and went to work for Herschel Canning Company, and later transferred to Woodland where he was a buyer for peaches and tomatoes. This was a new experience and was baptism under fire!! Herschel Cannery sold out to Contadena Foods and Ed remained with them for a few years.

After he left Contadena, he went to work for Peace Officer Training Service (POTS) in 1960. The main office of POTS was in Oakland CA. We had moved to Alameda CA in August 1968 and prior to that time, we joined two other salesmen for POTS and bought the business when the owners decided to retire. It was a great adventure and Ed stayed in the publishing end of the business for a few years. This was a company that was highly respected by all divisions of law enforcement in the state of California. Instructors were either local police or highway patrolmen. The manual (handbook) that was published by this company was used throughout the state--it was their bible.

Ed retired in March 1984 and has enjoyed his retirement to the utmost. He plays golf and he and Miriam have done a lot of traveling and seen many parts of the world. They have been to England and Ireland 3 times and to Australia and New Zealand once. They have made several trips into Canada and have travelled both Canadian coasts extensively. Life has been good. Notes for Jack Horton Gladney:

Jack Horton Gladney was born in Baytown TX on November 8, 1925 as an only son and child of Jack T. Gladney, Jr. and Floy Cude Gladney. He was brought to the family farm in Jim Wells County TX six weeks later. He grew up on the farm as an only child and found companionship with his pets. At one time his cats numbered seventeen. He also found friends among the children of his father's Mexican farm hands who spoke no English, so he learned to speak Spanish fluently. As told to his granddaughter, Stacee, on May 6, 2001, he described his growing up years. There was no electricity, telephones, or indoor bathrooms. There were no refrigerators, microwaves, washers and dryers. Their homes consisted of two rooms, a kitchen and a bedroom, usually with dirt floors. Papo (as his children and grandchildren call Jack) described his family as "up-town" because they had a wooden floor in the bedroom, a luxury that their neighbors couldn't afford. He also told of walking two miles back and forth to school every day. During his high school years, his parents leased their farm out and moved to San Antonio where his father, Jack T. Gladney, Jr., worked at Kelly Air Force Base.

Upon graduation from Harlandale High School in San Antonio, Jack Horton Gladney enlisted in the U.S. Navy and served on the destroyer USS Miller in the South Pacific for about 3 years. The USS Miller was part of Task Force 58 which consisted of one carrier, one battleship, one cruiser, and ten to twelve destroyers. The family tells an unusual story about the time his mother heard a radio report that the USS Miller had been destroyed. She was frying pork chops when she heard the bad news, and to this day no one knows what happened to the pork chops. They disappeared without a trace; not even a bone was ever found. Fortunately, the USS Miller had not been destroyed; it was a false report.

During a May, 2001 interview with his grandson, Cody, he related some of his war time experiences. An interesting note is that he served with the nephew of Hershey Chocolate. They would send his shipmates and him chocolate bars every week or so. He was the first class fire control man of the Destroyer. His duties while in battle were to tell the 300 gunners where and when to shoot their guns. The admiral on his ship was Admiral Haulsey. His ship's job was to protect the other ships. He was a part of the Green Berets and was in the Okinawa Battle as well as a few other places.

The Gladneys moved back to Jim Wells County after the war, where the elder Jack Gladney became the county tax assessor and collector.

Jack Horton Gladney married Faye Abbott on April 8, 1948 in Alice TX. After they married they bought a small ranch in Texas. They lived there six years and then had to sell it because of a severe drought. But for that seven-year drought that devastated farmers and ranchers in the 1950's, Jack would still be on the ranch. Year after year he fed his cattle, hoping the rain would come soon. But before it rained enough to restore the parched earth, Gladney was forced to sell his land to pay off the debt. "It was so bad on our ranch," says Gladney, "that the sand piled up against the fence so high in some places the cattle could walk across the top."

During their first year of marriage, their first child, a son, was born. Kenneth Tarver Gladney was born on April 8, 1949 (on his parents' first anniversary) in Alice TX. He was raised on the ranch and after graduating from high school in Lyford TX attended college at Texas A & M University graduating in 1971. After college, he went to work for the State of Texas Agricultural Department transferring to the USDA in July 1976. He married Brenda Smith of Newcastle OK on April 5, 1980 at Snowhill Baptist Church in Tuttle OK. They have lived in Oklahoma, Missouri, Wyoming, South Dakota, and Texas. While in Torrington WY their son Cody Jack Gladney was born on January 3, 1984.

Their daughter Jacqueline (Jackie) Faye Gladney was born on March 6, 1954, also in Alice TX. She graduated high school from Falfurrias TX. She married David Smith in Falfurrias TX on June 2, 1974. David works for the US Border Patrol and both lived in south Texas until 1987 when they transferred to Bonners Ferry, Idaho. While in Texas, three children were born. Stacey Nicole Smith was born on November 4, 1977, and recently married Jeremy Dineen of Idaho on January 14, 1998. Jamie Renee Smith was born on June 14, 1980 in Corpus Christi TX. Casey Aaron Smith was born August 24, 1986 in Corpus Christi TX. After moving to Idaho, Jackie went to work for US Immigrations Service.

Gladney was not disillusioned about ranching, but because it was necessary to find a way to support his family, he decided to go into the restaurant business in Pearsall TX at the Maverick Burger. Wanting more time for his family, he sold the business and went back to ranching. He was employed to assist Don Stone on his ranch at Wilamar near Lyford TX in the Rio Grande Valley, then moved to the 50,000 acre Mariposa Ranch near Falfurrias TX in 1970.

Jack and Faye managed the ranch until he retired to move to Bonners Ferry, Idaho in 1988 to be near their daughter, Jackie and her family. They reside there today (8/2001).

Jack Gladney, 83, passed away at the Bonner General Hospital in Sandpoint on June 24, 2009.

Jack, or "Papo" as he was known by most friends and family, was born November 8, 1925 in Baytown, Texas. He grew up in Alice, Tex. and graduated from Harlandale High School in San Antonio in 1943. Two days later, at the age of 17, Jack joined the United States Navy and served as a Range Finder in seven major battles aboard the USS Miller between September 4th, 1943 and December 28th, 1945. After serving in the Navy, Jack became involved in raising and ranching Santa Gertrudis and Beefmaster cattle in South Texas. He remained in the cattle business from 1945 until retirement in 1988, during which time he managed the largest registered Beefmaster cattle herd in the world. After retirement Jack and his wife, Faye Gladney, moved to Bonners Ferry. Jack enjoyed woodworking, hunting, fishing, gardening, and cooking. Jack is survived by his wife of 61 years, Faye Gladney; son and daughter-in-law Kenneth and Brenda Gladney of Amarillo; daughter and son-in-law Jackie and David Smith of Bonners Ferry; grandchildren Stacey and Jeremy Dineen, Jamie and Garrett Hull, Cody Gladney and Casey Smith; and great-grandchildren Erin and Carson Dineen and Rowdy Hull.

Beverly and her family had moved to the Fremont area so that Zachary would be closer to the School for the Deaf. She was killed in an auto accident on June 8, 1992 while on her way to Sacramento to attend a meeting. - 3425 iii. Jonathan Michael Waddams, born 01 Nov 1991 in Mercy Hospital, Redding, Shasta County CA.

Notes for Jonathan Michael Waddams:

Jonathan was adopted by Marsha Painter of Sacramento CA in November 1993 or 1994. It is believed that she changed his name to Nicholas, as the last time Toni (his mother) saw little Jonathan, she heard his new family refer to him as Nick.

This was an extremely heart-breaking time for our family. The courts had taken the children away from their mother, Toni, as she was not caring for them and their father was incarcerated during this period. Little Jonathan was not quite 2 when all of this was taking place. These 3 children lived with Dianne and Bill for a period of time, but it was impossible to keep all three together. Little Jonathan was adopted, little Donovan was placed in foster care and Shauna stayed with the grandparents. A family can only do so much under these very trying circumstances and it was very difficult.

She married Kenneth Edward Lynn 28 Feb 1998 in Foothill Community Center, Citrus Heights, Sacramento County CA. He was born Unknown.

Marriage Notes for Carrie Facht and Kenneth Lynn:

Carrie and Ken were married in the Foothill Community Center in Citrus Heights on February 28, 1998. The center was beautifully decorated and the reception was held at the same location.

Bill and Dianne made this a very special time for them. Carrie looked so lovely in her wedding dress of ivory satin. Carrie had chosen ivory and forest green as the theme colors. The bridesmaid was Anitra and the junior bridesmaid was her niece, Shauna Waddams. The flower girl was little Stephanie Waddams (another niece) who was only 2 and the ring bearer was Ken's little son, Garrett who is 5. The dresses for the attendants and Stephanie were forest green. I made Shauna's and Stephanie's dresses.

For something old, Carrie wore the antique bracelets that originally belonged to her great grandfather's (Howard Marshall Cave) mother. These bracelets may even be older, as we don't know when they were purchased. They may have originally belonged to Howard Cave's grandmother.
